

Chitralekha Suvam Sen

Born Chitralekha Suvam to Subho and Arati Tagore, was the great-grandniece of Nobel laureate Rabindranath Tagore. She was a talented and significant artist who built bridges between the East and the West. She was a lifelong seeker of beauty and universal spirituality, that she explored in her life and her art.

She touched many people with her ready smile and sunny disposition. She was an inspiration to many with her optimism and indomitable spirit in her long fight with cancer.

Her family thanks, from the bottom of their hearts, all the medical professionals and friends who were with her until the end.

Condolences may be offered to the family below.
