

Ian Stuart Lynch

Ian – (aka Lynky and Ianardo Delynychie) suffered a fatal heart attack on Sunday. Predeceased by parents Jeannette and William Lynch and brother Denis. He leaves behind siblings Lynda McKinney (Jim), Glen Lynch, Donna Lynch, nieces Colette Lynch, and Brooke Sackett, nephews Grant and Paul McKinney, many Lynch and Kissinger cousins and hundreds of friends.

Ian was many things in life, a pipe shop worker, a screen printer, a motorcycle artist, a news shop owner and a furnace repair man. He could fix anything and built his own Chopper Trike many years back. But his biggest accomplishments were making people laugh, being a trivia expert and gathering the largest group of friends a person could have. “If a good life is measured in friends – this man won”.

There is a little less laughter in Victoria now. We will have a celebration of life as soon as we are allowed to have lots of people together in the yard at the family home – and we expect stories.

In lieu of flowers, just brighten someone’s day as Ian did anytime you were around him.

Condolences may be offered to the family below.
