Kim passed away, far too early, at the age of 61. A different kind of mother for each of her daughters – Kaarina, Alexis, Teegan and Tess, she will forever be their favourite person. She was loved deeply by her husband John, sister Linda, step-children and grandchildren. The toughest softy and the busiest woman around, she loved her family and dogs, job and colleagues, pattering around her house, and filling it with beautiful things. To help fill the big hole she has left behind, the family would love to receive warm memories from those that knew her.
