Terry was born in Victoria in 1937. He graduated in mechanical engineering in 1965 from UBC. His passion for engineering brought him across the world with his career. Terry lived in Vancouver, Fort Lauderdale, London, England and Montreal. Eventually he came back to his roots and moved to the home where he had been born. Throughout his life, he had an unending fascination for sports cars, motorcycles, planes, helicopters and pretty much anything that could move.
